LOKVANI : 'AN E-FFORT TO EMPOWER CITIZENS'

LOKVANI is a public-private partnership e-governance programme which has been initiated with the combined efforts of the district administration and the National Informatics Center. The primary objective of the initiative is to bridge the digital divide and 'connect' the common man to the strategy makers in a seamless fashion.

The services offered by Lokvani are grievances and petitions, land records, tender services, employment services and information related to Government schemes. In 17 months period, more than 48,500 complaints were filed by the people and out of which more than 90% were resolved amicably.

Lokvani systems has helped the administration in streamlining its operations and has also brought in workload realization. The project has also proved that a low literacy rate is not a barrier to implementation of successful e-governance projects.
